MILLIONAIRE BUYS THE EAR OF A POOR GERMAN

MILLIONS FOR OAKLAND TELEPHONE GIRL.

Missing Heiress to Cariboo Mines is Found in a Local Office on Twelfth Street.

Mary Agnes Redford, sixteen years of age, and one of the most efficient operatives in the local telephone exchange, who resides with her guardian, Mrs. Thos. Hallahan, 2016 Market street in this city, is the heiress to a fortune which, according to reports from Victoria, B. C., will amount to at least a couple of million of dollars.

This information has reached this city in a roundabout manner, but legal verification of the good news has not yet been established.

This verification, it is expected, will be obtained within a short time, because efforts are now being made to have the matter looked into by the Probate Court of the District of British Columbia in which the estate is located.

UNEXPECTED FORTUNE.

The fortune came unexpectedly through the bequest of a deceased miner named Carlson, who died about two years ago, leaving neither widow nor children. He disposed of a half interest in the mining property in the Cariboo District, B. C., which was acquired during the days when fortunes were quickly made in the placers of that section.

WILL IN COURT.

The will which contained the bequest has been filed for probate, and since its filing, a search has been made for the beneficiary who, in a most remarkable manner, has been finally located in this city. The will authorized Bench La Salle, Carlson's surviving partner, to act as executor, and shows that when the decedent was on his death bed and realized that there was neither kith nor kin to succeed to his fortune, his thoughts turned to an early sweetheart who subsequently became Mrs. William Redford, with a longing to make her the beneficiary under his last testament.

THOUGHT OF DAUGHTER.

He realized, however, that she had passed into the great unknown which he was gradually approaching, but recalled the fact that she had left a little daughter, to whom, years before, he had sent, through her mother, a number of the nuggets of the purest gold which he had picked from the teeming placers in the Cariboo. He knew that she was still alive and with that knowledge, sent the bequest which will make that little girl, now approaching womanhood, independent.

Whatever the result of the probate of the will, whether the immense fortune referred to be realized, or whether it be divided into insignificance will have no effect upon the beneficiary nor her guardian, Mrs. Hallahan, both of whom have little information on the subject, and are unwilling to anticipate results. They are satisfied to await developments and have placed the matter in the hands of George Edgar Jackson, their attorney, who will look after their interests after the manner of a capable and successful young attorney of the San Francisco-Alameda county.

LOYALTY OF A PARTNER.

The manner in which the beneficiary under the will was discovered displayed the loyalty of a partner to his deceased associate, although his efforts would have been unavailing had it not been for an accidental circumstance which led to the identity of the beneficiary of the deceased.

Beach La Salle felt that when commissioned to find the heir of his deceased partner that he had a duty which he should conscientiously perform. Accordingly, having learned from Carlson that the young lady in question resided in Oakland, he came here to confer with her.

He had learned that she was living on Market street in this city, but while coming here had mistaken her time, so much so, that when he reached this city he started out to find a young girl named Redford who was living with a lady named Callahan on Market street in this city. He searched the directory, but could find no girl by the name of Redford. He made inquiry in a number of places and from a number of officials of this city, and in none of those places from none of these officials could he gain any information of a person or family of the name of Redford.

Not satisfied with this he made up his mind that he would leave no stone unturned to discover where a family of the name of Callahan lived on Market street. The directory was silent on that subject also.

HOUSE TO HOUSE CANVAS.

Somewhat discouraged, he then decided that he would make a house to house canvas on Market street for a family of the Callahan name.

He carried out his purpose. He began a canvass on the southern extremity of the street, visited every structure on that thoroughfare, asking for the name Callahan or the name Redford, and in no place could he find either, or knowledge of them.

This canvass was begun in the early part of October and required several days, and by that time La Salle began to despair. When he reached San Pablo avenue, a distance of a couple of miles from the place of starting, he concluded that his information was incorrect and that his search was necessarily futile.

ABANDONED HIS SEARCH.

He abandoned the search and went back to his mines in the Cariboo district, regretting that he had been unable to find the beneficiary of his partner's last will.

If, however, he had crossed San Pablo avenue, he certainly would have found the little woman of whom he had been in quest, because in the first house to the north of San Pablo avenue and on the east side resides Mrs. Hallahan, widow of the late Thomas Hallahan, who is the guardian of the girl of whom La Salle was in quest. Inquiry there would have satisfied him that the home he was searching for was that of a family named Hallahan instead of one of the name of Callahan.

TOLD HIS SECRET.

La Salle's inquiry at the houses along Market street attracted to him the attention of a number of people to only a few of whom, however, he told why he was making the search, and not a few of the householders wondered why he was so diligent in his inquiry, and a few of these inquired improper purposes to his persistent investigation. One of these, to whom in a minor degree La Salle gave an inkling of his purpose, afterwards began to think and concluded that possibly after all La Salle was hunting for the Hallahan family. This party communicated with La Salle's representative in Vancouver, informing him of the fact that there had perhaps been a mistake in the name and word finally came from the north to Attorney George Jackson of this city, who was instrumental in bringing the news to Mrs. Hallahan.

La Salle has been communicated with at his home in Bakerville, Cariboo, and notices of the discovery of the heiress have been sent to all the probate courts in the province of Vancouver.

Monday last the papers of Vancouver published with more or less gratification the news of the discovery.

AWAITING NEWS.

Mrs. Hallahan was seen today and declared that she was simply awaiting developments. If good fortune were in store for her ward, she was glad of it, but if the contrary was the case, and upon this she would express no opinion, she would be satisfied to abide the result.

HEIRRESS TALKS.

Miss Agnes Redford was seen by the Tribune reporter today at the telephone exchange office. She is petite, pretty, of sweet disposition and with absolutely nothing of affectation in her manner. She was unmoved by the news and said, however, that she thought it would prove true, but that she was willing to wait until everything was decided. She remembered, she said, that about ten years ago she received through her mother a number of nuggets of gold, the value of which she was too young to appreciate.

These, she said, had been brought into several rings for herself and trinkets for her mother. The rings, she declared, had been out and she attributed this to the fact that the gold of which they were made was of the purest kind and without alloy.

Mrs. Redford is the surviving daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Redford. She was born in San Francisco, where her father conducted a large jewelry business. The family, however, resided in Alameda.

MOTHER DIED.

On October 5, 1902, her mother, Marie Charlotte Redford, died in Alameda at the age of 32 years of a sudden and severe attack of congestion of the brain. The remains were interred in Calvary cemetery, San Francisco. A younger brother of Miss Redford's died subsequently. The death of wife and son affected the father and father grievously and impelled him to abandon his business and return to a seafaring life in which he is now engaged, but in another part of the world.

In 1895, with her father's consent, Miss Redford became the ward of Mrs. Thomas Hallahan and with that lady she has since been making her home and between her and Mrs. Hallahan exists an affection which is mutually blind mother and daughter.

Mrs. Hallahan is the widow of the brother of George Hallahan and Miss Mary Hallahan, the well known caterers of this city.

CONTEST BEFORE MINERS.

Grove L. Johnson Sounds
Warning Note at the Convention.

Miners Pass Resolutions
In Spite of His Protest.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 18.—

The serenity of the miners convention was ruffled this morning by the introduction of a section in the report of the resolutions committee depreciating the efforts of the anti-debris association to interfere with hydraulic mining in the Sacramento and San Joaquin basins, even where the operators were working under licenses issued by the government. Grove L. Johnson, representing the Chamber of Commerce of Sacramento, precipitated a lively and at times heated discussion by warning the convention to refrain from interfering in the quarrels of individuals.

When the convention was called to order a telegram from John Hays Hammond at Oroville was read, regretting his inability to attend.

RALSTON'S REPORT.

Chairman Ralston of the Committee on Mines and Mining, made a report dealing with the appointment of a United States Committee of Mines and Mining. The question of governmental supervision of the industry was not a local one—it was as broad as the nation itself and should be given proper recognition. It was urged that a strong demand be made for the appointment of a mining commissioner under the jurisdiction of either the secretary of the interior or the secretary of commerce.

The memorial committee presented resolutions in memory of James F. Parks and Dana Harmon, deceased members of the association, and a Chairman Voorhees, of the committee on resolutions, presented a number of resolutions for consideration. They include the following:

RESOLUTIONS.

Urging the California delegation in Congress to have enacted a law creating a commissioner of mining; suggesting that an act be brought before Congress that all patents for mineral lands hereafter issued shall contain the date of the location of the claim and that such statement shall be prima facie evidence of such location, also stating that a bill be presented to the Legislature providing for the admission of evidence of location; that the proposed construction of a restraining dam on Webber Creek be endorsed and that Congress be asked to make an appropriation.

Many who came to withdraw their deposits, when they saw the great piles of cash and the officials ready to accommodate them left entirely satisfied.

German Is Paid $5,000 to Submit to Surgeon's Knife.

PHILADELPHIA, November 18.—

Dr. Andrew B. Nelden, of New York, today performed the operation of grafting an ear upon the head of a Western millionaire, whose name the surgeon says he is under bond not to reveal.

The operation was to have been performed in New York but District Attorney Jerome is said to have interfered.

Dr. Nelden advertised for a man willing to sell an ear for $5000 and from 300 applicants he selected a young German, who conducts a restaurant in New York.

Dr. Nelden said today:

"The two men were placed in opposite directions upon an elongated bed. One-half of the volunteer's ear was cut off, together with about four inches of the skin behind the ear.

"This was twisted around and fitted to a freshly prepared wound upon my patient's head. The half ear was held in place by bandages and the two men bound so they cannot move their heads.

"They must retain this position for at least twelve days to allow the circulation to come through the flap of skin that still remains a part of the volunteer's scalp.

"If this half ear starts to unite properly, the lower half will be grafted in the same manner."

LAI DOWN LIFE WORKING FOR HIS COUNTRY.

THE LATE DR. WINSLOW.

Dr. Winslow of West Oakland Dies in the Philippine Islands.

News has just been received of the death in Manila of Dr. Henry E. Winslow, a West Oakland young man.

Dr. Winslow was connected with the Philippine Constabulary Department, U. S. A., and rendered meritorious service with various expeditions in the Philippines. He also met with much success in preventing the spreading of cholera, and assisted in establishing various hospitals during the campaign, for which efficient service he received special recognition from Captain H. R. Perry commanding the Twenty-ninth Infantry and also from Brigadier General J. M. Lee.

Dr. Winslow was of a genial, kindly disposition, endeavoring himself to all whom he met. He leaves a widowed mother living at 816 Wood street, this city; also several sisters and other relatives. He will be particularly remembered as one of the first members of St. John's Church Boys' Choir of Oakland. In due time the remains will be forwarded to the United States by transport for burial.

MISSING CHAS. THORNE DID NOT TAKE A BRIDE.

Chas. V. S. Thorne, the long-sought and much-talked-of East Oakland hermit has returned from his mysterious trip east. He is hale, hearty and eighty, and a worthy man.

"It is a pity," said he today to a TRIBUNE representative, "that a man can't go away quietly when he feels like it without all this fuss. About three weeks ago I made up my mind to take a quiet trip to Omaha. Of course, I have friends there, the Crocks, and I went to visit them and to do a little work if the occasion offered to stay longer."

"Didn't you tell anyone where you were going?" he was asked.

"Oh, yes," he replied cheerfully, "I told the folks here in the house next door but they thought it was nobody's business and kept it to themselves."

"Why they sent the detectives to my house and they ransacked the place, the wretches. Why do you know, the neighbors suspected that I was dead and buried there."

"Married! Do I look like a groom? Certainly I was not married and never thought of such a thing. It would have suited me fine to get some work back there; that was all that was in my brain. That marriage story was the rankiest fake of all."

Dr. Thorne vows vengeance on the newspaper men who helped themselves to his cherished portrait. "I'll get it back," he said. "It was the only one I had."

The old man seems to take special delight in the air of mystery that was thrown about his unpretentious dwelling and chuckles to think how the neighbors were eying the place with suspicion a few days and passing on the other side of the street at night. He thinks it is a great joke to sit in the sun and bid them good morning when they pass.

"And I am not a bridegroom, don't forget that," said the old hermit.

It is a most important position, making Cardinal Del Val head of the administration of the Vatican, and thus centering in his hands the highest powers of the Papal government.

TELLS ON SALE OF

Accused Mother Tells Her Story on the Stand.

The mother in the celebrated Fleet baby selling case is telling her story this afternoon to Judge Hall, who is hearing her petition for a divorce from "Clay H. Fleet." She is a delicate looking woman and hardly appears as the kind of a woman one would expect to see charged with having sold her offspring. Both husband and wife are still young.

She gave as the reason for having left her child at an orphanage in San Francisco that she was penniless and was unable to care for it and earn a living for herself. The child was left there in the absence of the mother in the care of the nurses. But when the mother returned she decided the child was too young and the mother was forced to take it back again. It is 2 years old now and plays in the court-room while the mother and father make their fight before the judge.

In a cross-complaint filed to the action brought by Ida Fleet, the husband charges the wife with dissolute conduct and the selling of their child to people in Carson, Nevada, for $100. He states that he was forced to go to Nevada for the child, where he found that it had been sent to Oakland and then to Watsonville.

In answer to this she says that after her baby was returned to her from the orphanage she read in a paper an advertisement for a woman to take care of a child. She took the child. She went to see and an agreement was reached between them by which the child was to be given to a couple who wanted to adopt one, that the mother was willing to let the child go. The child was examined by a physician to see if it was sound and a photograph of the mother was furnished to the parties who wanted to make the adoption, so that they might see what she was like.

The mother, however, was not allowed to see the people into whose care she was giving her child. She says that she was told that they were an elderly couple and that they were about to go to Europe. Mrs. Fleet stated that she wished to know there was any way in which she could get her baby back and she was told that her proper name would be given to the people adopting the child. In the end, however, she was told that the child would be returned to her.

With this understanding she gave up her child.

HE ANSWERS THE Fleet."

Byington's affidavit states that the Eppingers were taken before the grand jury in a perfect legal manner. He says that there were no good legal grounds for quashing the indictments.

It was a pleasant day and they concluded that they would come over to Oakland to have the ceremony performed rather than in San Francisco. They are to go on a short wedding tour after which Mr. Schwartz will go with her husband to live at the St. Nicholas, which has been the groom's home for years.

RATTLING ROAST FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.

WASHINGTON, November 18.—Correspondence that passed between United States Attorney Summers at Omaha and Attorney General Knox in June last in the matter of the charges against Postmaster Fisher, of Hastings, Nebraska, and United States Senator Dietrich, of Nebraska, and the investigation of the same by a grand jury, was made public today. The letter of Mr. Summers to the attorney-general is dated June 28 and is as follows:

"I have the honor to transmit to you herewith the testimony given before the United States grand jury on June 5, 1903, by Leopold Hahn. Mr. Hahn is a citizen of Hastings, Adams County, Neb. He was called before the grand jury at the request of members, on account of well defined rumors of circulation and charges based thereon as to the violation of section 1781, Revised Statutes of the United States, by Jacob Fisher, who is now postmaster in the city of Hastings.

"The testimony, you will see, reflects not only upon Jacob Fisher, the postmaster, but as well upon United States Senator Dietrich, of Nebraska. The grand jurors insist upon making a thorough and searching investigation. The event was discontinued at my request because of the fact that the conduct of a United States Senator was involved in the question the grand jury desired to investigate. From the copy of the proceedings before the grand jury it appears that at the time the testimony closed a most extraordinary and incriminating story had been told by the witness Hahn in which Senator Dietrich was criminally involved, but the facts which found the basis of this talk were not of the witness' own knowledge. Fairness to the person thus incriminated, as well as other considerations of duty should have caused us to refrain from interfering with the desire of the grand jury to probe the matter to the bottom.

"In reply I state you should not have requested a discontinuance of the investigation against the grand jury's insistence, because of the fact that the conduct of a United States Senator was involved in the question the grand jury desired to investigate. From the copy of the proceedings before the grand jury it appears that at the time the testimony closed a most extraordinary and incriminating story had been told by the witness Hahn in which Senator Dietrich was criminally involved, but the facts which found the basis of this talk were not of the witness' own knowledge. Fairness to the person thus incriminated, as well as other considerations of duty should have caused us to refrain from interfering with the desire of the grand jury to probe the matter to the bottom.

"I specially disapproved of your carrying out interference with the proper functions of the jury to the extent of using your promise to submit the matter to this department for direction in the premises as an argument, in your effort to persuade the jury to discontinue their investigation.

"Upon the whole, your action in the matter, the end accomplished and the means employed were astonishing, unwarranted and highly improper."

LIVELY DEBATE IN SAN JOSE
THE HOUSE.

REPUBLICAN LEADER CALLS THE TURN OF THE NEXT ELECTION.

WASHINGTON, November 18.—Mr. Grosvenor in the House today said he would not permit his vote on this question to be challenged as affecting his attitude on the dominion question of protection of American industries. Speaking on tariff revision, he said that the republicans would revise the schedule when they got ready to do so and in their own way, without any aid from the opposite side of the house and that the revision would be with special reference to the upbuilding of present conditions.

Answering a statement made by Mr. Clark (Missouri), as to conditions existing when Mr. Cleveland went in as president, Mr. Grosvenor said: "Immediately after the election of Cleveland there was practically a suspension of the income of revenues of the United States. It is natural, it was inevitable, it would happen again if somebody other than Roosevelt should be elected president next year."

While speaking of the prospects of the democratic party, Mr. Clark (Missouri), in view of the scarcity of money from which we are suffering and the needs of our own railroads, it is to be hoped that financial houses in this country will not make too ready responses to American blandishments."

Reports from the Labor Gazette, just published, show a steady decline from the condition of industrial activity recently prevalent in this country. The percentage of unemployed is from 10 to 20 per cent greater at the principal industries. While the average day's work in the coal mines and iron mines has been reduced.

SALOONS CLOSED.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Nov. 18.—At the National W. C. T. U. it was stated today that twenty-five saloons at Cheyenne were closed by reason of the order of the Union Pacific forbidding employees to enter saloons. Over 200,000 railroad employees are now wearing the temperance button.

WIFE WANTS ALIMONY.

Isabelle L. Brock has petitioned the courts to enforce the payment to her of alimony awarded her at the time she was granted a separation from John C. Brock. She states that the decree of divorce was granted her in February, 1896. At that time she was awarded $10 a month alimony. During the intervening time Brock has missed twenty-one of his payments amounting to $210. His credit with his former wife is no longer good and she asks that an execution be issued for this amount and $50 additional for attorney fees.

GENERAL STRIKE
MAY OCCUR.

CHICAGO STREET CAR MEN ARE MAKING A DETERMINED STAND.

CHICAGO, November 18.—While negotiations for peace between the City Railway and its striking employees were pending in the city hall through the overtures of Mayor Harrison and the aldermanic arbitration committee, a third line of the company's strike-bound cars was put in operation today under police protection. Five cars on the Indiana avenue electric line were started under guard of patrolmen drawn from the Westworth and Cottage Grove avenue lines, where trouble had apparently subsided almost to the point of disappearance. A greater number of trains were put in commission on Cottage Grove avenue than was operated yesterday.

Owing to the withdrawal of police and men to operate other lines, only 15 cars were operated on Westworth.

Mayor Harrison and his mediation committee held another conference with representatives of the company and the strikers today. Agent the possibility of a successful strike on other street car lines in Chicago, President Mahon, of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees, said: "I will not recommend a general strike, but should the position be put up for the men to vote upon, there is a strong probability that they would vote to strike. This is especially true of the Union Traction men, who feel justly indignant over the tactics used by the company and the City Railway Company. In the present strike, Union Traction men have been on guard at places where their lines intersect the City Railway lines, and in three cases that I know of, have asked for the arrest of Union Traction men whom they accused of delaying City Railway cars."

Except for a few stones on the tracks, there was no attempt to delay the Indiana avenue cars on route to the business center. The Westworth and Cottage Grove avenue cars met with only trifling interference and carried a largely increased number of passengers.

A conference subsequently arranged, the committee from the strikers informed the mayor and aldermanic committee that until arbitration could be brought about, concentrated action by all unions of the city, including elevated trainmen would doubtless be taken. As to what this action would be they declined to predict, but intimated that a general strike was not impossible.

William E. Dargie, President.

“HE IS DEAD, MY LORD.”

If, while treading the measureless causeways of the upper air, the spirit of the late Professor Du Pont Syle can be conscious of what is occurring in this mundane sphere, he can appreciate the truth of the Arabian proverb. “Call no man happy till he is dead.”

Especially will its force and meaning appeal to his ethereal intelligence when he reads the eloquent and touching tribute to his memory paid by Professor Benjamin Ide Wheeler, President of the University of California. In reviewing the affectionate cadences and the glowing encomiums of that remarkable effusion, the spirit of Professor Syle might well exclaim: “Happy is he who dies, for then his enemy will do him justice!”

President Wheeler says in his memorial letter: “The untimely end of Professor Syle’s career as scholar and teacher must bring pain to every one who had occasion to know his brilliant gifts and to experience the helpfulness of his instruction. He possessed undoubtedly a rare sense for the fitness and dignity of English dramatic literature and had shown unusual tact and good taste in giving English plays a worthy setting upon the college stage. Any one who saw the Charter Day play of 1900 could not fail to know that a master hand was in control.”

An ounce of civet, good apothecary, the odor of these flowers of rhetoric and over-sweet! One would hardly believe that the man who penned the above had, inspired by a vengeful motive, procured Professor Syle’s dismissal from the position he had held in the University for a decade. “Lord, Lord, how this world is given to lying!” as fat Jak says in King Henry.

If the lamented Mrs. Ganp were alive, she would say, “How beautifully President Wheeler do take on!” It compensates one to be killed by a man who apologizes so sweetly. Surely a man who can eulogize his dead enemy with such grace and pathos can not be a hypocrite.

He’s a bird.

Senator Dietrich of Nebraska is trying to get United States District Attorney Somers, who had him indicted for selling postoffices, removed from office. The Senator would appear in a more becoming light if he were to wait till after the courts have vindicated him to ask the President for Mr. Somers’ scalp. It may be true that Somers had him indicted to satisfy a political grudge, but the fact is not proved by removing the prosecuting attorney in advance of a trial. Neither does it tend to vindicate Senator Dietrich or establish his innocence to get his prosecutor deprived of his office.

The doctors have decided that the polypus in Kaiser William’s throat was caused by too much talking. To some extent the big Social Democratic vote at the last election may be ascribed to the same cause.

THE CANAL A CERTAINTY.

The complete failure of the mission of the reconciliation commission sent from Bogota to induce the Panamanians to reconsider their revolution may be taken as settling the canal question. Notwithstanding the implied threat that Colombia would reduce Panama to submission by force of arms, there will be no war. Colombia cannot invade Panama by either land or sea, and the United States would allow no fighting in the canal strip if she could.

While the Panamanians were rejecting the overtures of the Colombian Commissioners, Secretary Hay and the diplomatic representative of Panama were busy fixing up a canal treaty in Washington. That convention will doubtless be ready in a few days for the President to lay before the Senate. It will be promptly ratified.

Then Colombia will have to go way back and sit down. Because to interfere with the treaty rights acquired by the United States from another power would be an act of war. When we have once made a treaty with Panama, Colombia will be as completely out of it as if she were on another hemisphere.

The canal will be built, and in a hurry, too. It will be built also on terms which will give the United States permanent control over the whole isthmus.

How far medical science has robbed yellow fever of its terrors is shown by the statistics of the epidemic at Laredo, Texas. Out of 700 cases there were sixty deaths—less than nine per cent. But the greatest service medical science has accomplished is preventive, not curative. Each year yellow fever epidemics are becoming more rare and more circumscribed. American occupation of the isthmus of Panama will remove one of the breeding places for the pestilence, as it did in Cuba. Living in the Gulf Coast cities will be safer when the canal is dug.

The grafters in the customs service are discovering that the President is playing no favorites in weeding out graft. His hand is falling heavy on the crooks: wherever found, and the pull is powerless to prevent dismissal and punishment.

THE LESSON OF WHITTIER.

The Whittier Magazine for November is a beautiful and artistic publication. Its literary merit, while considerable, is of little consequence beside the mechanical skill evidenced in getting it out. The chief point of interest is that this magazine is printed—illustrations and all—at the Whittier school for boys and girls in Los Angeles county—a State institution founded for the education and training of wayward children. It is the aim of the managers to teach proficiency in useful handicrafts as well as inculcate lessons of morality and learning.

It is stated that the general average of inmates is higher this year than at any previous time. At present the school authorities have under their jurisdiction, in the boys’ department, 430, of whom 176 are out on parole, 10 on furlough and 20 absent without leave—runaways, in plain language. This proportion of truants is not large in view of the ease with which boys can escape from Whittier. An absentee list of less than five per cent is a tribute to the management of the school, which must be made attractive to its inmates if it is to be useful in the work it was instituted to carry out.

The trades taught include tailoring, carpentering and mill-work, shoemaking, painting, printing, florist and market gardening, general blacksmithing and electricity, cadet cap making, cooking, farming and fruit raising. Each of these departments is under the superintendency of a competent instructor. In addition to producing the school magazine of twenty-four pages monthly, the stationary reports and large volumes of pamphlets and other printed matter is manufactured. Power presses and modern machinery are used and every opportunity afforded apprentices for becoming journeymen printers. The graces of composition are taught and cadets, as the inmates are called, encouraged to write original articles. Each article is signed by the writer.

The success of the Whittier school indicates the course that society should take to decrease crime and moral debasement. We are forever talking about prison reform, but the best reform that can be instituted is a system of industrial training for the young that will decrease the number of convicts and minimize the necessity for reforming our penological methods. Kindergartens for the children of the poor and the cleaning up, physically and morally, of the slums in the cities will go a great way toward promoting uprightness and respect for law. Supplement this with practical industrial training and a reasonable amount of education in the book sense, and a long step will be taken toward depopulating the prisons. The highest political wisdom is combined with the broadest humanity in training the youth of the land—especially that portion of it which does not have a fair chance under existing conditions—for honest endeavor in useful and lucrative pursuits. The young should be taught how to make a living as well as how to live.

If the Santa Fe Company should build a road from Eureka to Stockton via Clear Lake, a dream that the Humboldt lumbermen have cherished for many years would be realized. They have always wanted a railway outlet for their lumber direct into the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys. In default of that, they are compelled to haul their lumber to Eureka, ship it down the coast on schooners, and then transship it by rail to its final destination. The proposed railway will permit lumber to be loaded on the cars and transported direct to the point of final destination without change.

The killing of a man in a French duel suggests that it would not be a bad idea for French duellists to take out accident insurance policies. There is always liability of mistake.

It is now Japan’s turn to complain of Perfidious Albion.

War between China and Russia will in reality be a war between Russia and Japan and possibly England, as Russia is trying to force China to violate her treaty agreements with other nations, more particularly England and Japan.

Chips From Other Blocks

Wheat is rotting on the ground in Kansas, because they can’t get cars to haul it. Was there ever a time when Kansas wasn’t in trouble of some kind?—Chicago Herald.

Go West, young man—or East, or any old direction, and be a faith healer. It’s the biggest graft there is.—Mobile Herald.

If you want to forget all sorrows, get a pair of tight shoes.—Des Moines Leader.

Procrastination seems to have a grip on New York. A “committee” delayed lynching a negro so long that the suspect had time to prove his innocence.—Los Angeles Express.

The esteemed New York Sun has discovered that “nature defends Panama.” That is interesting, to be sure, but it is not strictly important, as long as the United States is attending to that job.—Kansas City Star.

“The rumor is absolutely false, absurd and ridiculous,” says Morgan’s authorized denial of his reported retirement. So were the rumors announcing the infallibility of certain stocks.—New York World.

Colombia will now experience some of the painful consequences which inevitably result from an unbridled lust for graft.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

If New York likes that kind of municipal government that is the kind of government it would be expected to secure.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The automobile which was used by Tom Johnson in Ohio and by the Low campaigners in New York does not seem to be much good for reform purposes.—Kansas City Times.

There is just about enough left of the Democratic organization in Pennsylvania to elect delegates to next year’s state and national conventions, and that is apparently all it cares for.—Philadelphia Press.

THE COMIC MUSE.

“Forgive that idea! I lost my head!” Cried timid Mr. Smith.
“Indeed? Who was it then,” she said.
“You used to kiss me with!”—Philadelphia Ledger.

This is the reason Solomon Was thought to be so wise— He never bragged unto his wives About his mother’s ples.—Chicago News.

Tell me not, in mournful numbers, That the suckers are all dead; There are still, in every city, Zionites to burn—“nuff said!”—Memphis Scimitar.

MARKETING IN CAIRO.
An Ethiop went up to Cairo, To look at some eggs—not to buy, though; So he said: “All I’ve seen Are too ripe or too green— I wanted to buy, not to die, though!”—Aloysius Coll, in Lippincott’s.

SOME PASSING JESTS.

“Our leading lady will remain in our company for another year,” remarked Subbuss.
“What do you mean? You’re not in the theatrical business, are you?”
“No, merely housekeeping. I refer to the cook.”

Going It Alone.
“Hello, Mr. Stragg,” said the summer hotel man. “I haven’t seen you since last year. It seems strange not to see Miss Jenkins with you.”
“Oh!” replied Stragg. “I don’t run around with her any more.”
“No. She’s Mrs. Stragg now.”—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Train of Thought.
“I suppose you heard that Gayboy was taken suddenly ill this morning and died this afternoon,” said the suburbanite.
“No!” replied the other. “Well, well! that reminds me, have you got the furnace fire going at your house yet?” Exchange.

Conditional.
A Scotsman was on his death bed and his friends persuaded him to forgive a neighbor with whom he had a standing feud for some years.
The neighbor came to the dying man’s bedside.
After they had shaken hands and made peace, the Scotsman exclaimed:
“If I get better, Donald, remember all this goes for naught.”—Pearson’s Weekly.

Hints for the Ladies.

Among the attractive sofa pillows exhibited are those made of black and yellow in the shape of a football.

An expensive but lovely piece of artistic ware is in old copper and is a small tea-kettle, rather odd in shape.

An electric light has a lovely opalescent shell for a shade. This shell is supported over the light by an arm of bronze.

Some very pretty salad dishes in a plain pink china decorated with a rose design in a deeper pink are on sale for only 50 cents each.

Christmas cards are appearing in the stationery departments and it is a noticeable fact that very many of them are in the shape of automobiles.

In the mission furniture comes a cellaret that when closed is not at all conspicuous looking. The top lifts up, however, and discloses a cup and a few steins.

Vests shirred on wire to fit the hat are among the latest in vest novelties. They are of chiffon from two and half to three yards long and come in navy, brown and black.

If one makes the small boy’s clothes it is not really necessary to spend the time embroidering an eagle or eagle on the sleeve, for these small embroidered emblems can be purchased all ready to sew on and cost only a small sum.

Mantillas, a revival of our grandmothers’ day, are among the newest fur pieces.

The empire frock and tea gown for evening wear still claim a great many votaries.

Collars that sweep the shoulders and fall almost to the elbow are in mode at present.

Fringes will be a great deal used on evening gowns, particularly those of gold and silver tissues, while real and costly lace will have a greater vogue than ever.

Tafteta is still being used for evening frocks, being softened with big coils of lace, which remind one of the 1830 modes. The tafteta skirt is tucked, flounced, ruffled and inscribed.

The latest xibelines are more furry than ever. The solid color effects are far and away in the lead, with two-toned effects the next best. Plaids and stripes are on view but are not much worn.

Jet will once more be seen in all its magnificence, cunningly mixed with and softened by chenille and chiffon. Velvet of a glorious soft mink will be the favorite winter fabric, while silver and white will be one of the prettiest combinations.

Tailors are using embroideries as well as fringes and big flat silk and mohair braids. Glace as a trimming is holding its own bravely and satin bids fair to become equally popular in the near future, but perhaps more in the hands of the couturiere than in those of the tailor.

Very daring mixtures are being used even by young girls. For instance, a curious shade of cobalt blue ecru had a sash and fichu of green chine ribbon, the gown being arranged in a series of tiny box-plaits. Then a wine-colored chiffon was relieved with three tones of red, introduced in a flibbly collar and wide sash.

Plain clothes in all weights and every shade are more in vogue than those of a fancy make and short walking skirts of plain cloth will be made to match the fur boleros as far as color is concerned. Some, too, will have fur edgings, which remind me, by the way, that fur will be used as a trimming on some of the best cloth gowns.

Velveteen will be much used in the manufacture of the home tea gown. And in what glorious shades it is now being produced! Pinks, greens and blues are nowadays all to be obtained in velveteens—not the old crude shades was always associated with cheap materials, but those which take lights and shades are altogether most attractive.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Matrimonial success sometimes depends upon the alimony.

A man ceases to believe in dreams after marrying one.

Girls think it unlucky to lose the chance of getting an opal.

A woman is always as old as she looks if she tries not to look it.

Sometimes a woman wishes her absent husband because she can’t hit him.

A half-tone manufacturer says that bald men have good heads for business.

People with the most expensive tastes usually have the least money to meet them.

If a young man has money to burn it is easy to induce some girl to strike a match.

When a young man thinks he is entitled to a kiss the girl seldom thinks it necessary to arbitrate.

Some men drink to drown their sorrow. Of course drink brings more sorrow, but then there’s more drink.

When a homely woman has her photograph taken she acts as if she considered the artist responsible for her looks.—Chicago News.

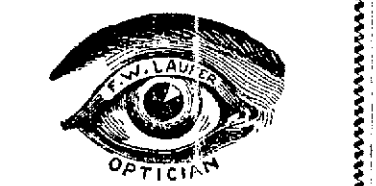

Made Young Again.
“One of Dr. King’s New Life Pills each night for two weeks has put me in my teens again,” writes D. H. Turner of Davenport, Pa. “They’re the best in the world for Liver, Stomach and Bowels, and generally vegetable. Never gripe. Only 25c at Osgood Bros., druggists, Seventh street and Broadway.”

NOT A FIRE SALE
BUT A SALE CAUSED BY FIRE
Don’t confuse this event with the usual “Hurrah” fire sale. The proposition is a simple one. We have some damaged goods to dispose of and we have made price concessions that make the task an easy one. We have stated in previous announcements, our Drapery and Millinery departments suffered the most. These goods will be disposed of in quick order—and in addition to many specials that are offered, we make an allowance of ten per cent on ALL purchases in every department except, Sorosis Shoes, Muslins and list goods.
